1. Well, I'm not a foolish man, but I'm

2. (see additional lyrics)

half out of my head, sitting here remembering the fool-ish things, I said, Here no-bod-y knows me, nobod-y asks my name, but it doesn't real-ly mat-ter, 'cause it feels about the same. You can call me blue, you can call me un-true, you can call me wrong,
e-ven if the love's gone. You can call me friend

'til the ver-y end. An-y time you got an ex-tra dime,

call me some-time.

2. Well, I
Verse 2:
Well, I really let you down, then I watched you rise above;
Now I’m trying to get used to not believing in your love.
I’m sitting here remembering, trying to drink away my tears,
But the dreams won’t die easy, I’ll be dreaming them for years.
(To Chorus;)
